Episode 61. Bud (2)

A person with dark hair is peeking over a wooden ledge or railing. The background shows a traditional East Asian building with a tiled roof and wooden structure. The scene is lit with a warm, orange glow.

The birthday festival is on, but it suddenly fell so that all dates are cancelled and return us to the room...

Two women are in a room. On the left, a woman with dark hair and bangs is looking towards the right. On the right, another woman is standing, wearing a traditional orange and red garment. A small lantern sits on a table between them. The room has wooden walls and a traditional aesthetic.

Is there anything you heard about that, Cho-Hua?

The person who was with the lofty madam when we were returning to our room was the Chief of Police Jung-Ho

The soldiers who followed after him are obviously from the Police Headquarters

They said they are searching for the assassin
who assaulted the Chief,
on the night it was raining heavily.

.....

And they also said that...

The assassin has an injured right wrist.

Yuen-Hwa...

Just like yours.

Chief Jang-Ho

As you told me to, I've cancelled all the court ladies' duties and sent them to their own rooms...

Chief Jang-Ho

But I still do not understand how your investigations have led you here, of all places

Only those men authorized by His Majesty may enter these premises.

Furthermore, all the ladies within these quarters are common court ladies who are not allowed to leave the main Palace grounds.

Yet, you accuse those children to be assassins...

Lofty Madam, I should clarify that I am not here with the certainty that the culprit is indeed one of the court ladies.

Rather, I'm here to make sure that there are no missing gaps to the investigation.

If we were to conduct our investigation while conceding to your commodities, then all other departments within the Court will also ask the same in the future.

I have clearly understood that, but I can't think of a reason for you to keep insisting that the assassin is within the Imperial Court.

It could as well be an outsider.

We do not think that it was an outsider.

He was very knowledgeable of the Palace's layout,

To the point
that soldiers who tried to corner him
were left behind.

Also, even though the internal police force was divided due to the right-parliamentarians'
guarding duty, the guards to the Palace walls and to the entrances were left as they were.

Meaning, there was no chance for an outsider
to infiltrate into the Palace
that night.

I heard that the assassin is thought to be the called right-parliamentarian Man-jung's servant

That assassin may not be one of his servants.

What...!!

Of course,
that does not mean that right-parliamentarian Man-jung is not behind this all.

From the trial results,
the right-parliamentarian
Man-jung is certainly the mastermind behind the case,
and Kangyu was innocent.

Right-parliamentarian
Man-jung has also admitted
so in the end.

However, the processes that lead to these results are somewhat bothering me.

It is as if someone has created those circumstances so that the investigation would flow in that direction...

Created such circumstances...

But who would do
such a thing?

I cannot tell you that yet.

I think I've said too much as it is already.

Lefty Madam, I'm not here to cause trouble.

I only wish to complete the investigation thoroughly for any possibility that the assassins may be hiding somewhere, and it is also to eliminate any nuisance to His Majesty's upcoming birthday
festival.

So I ask you to not think as negatively of our investigation.

Of course.

The right wrist...

Yes. The right wrist.

Your injury was also on the right wrist. And it was also the morning right after the heavy downpour.

To tell you the truth, I happened to wake up early in the morning.

At that time you weren't in the room, and after a while you came back soaked by the rain.

It was at that time
that you came back with an injured wrist.

I... always thought that you were different from the other court
ladies.

You seem indifferent but you react very sensitively to your surroundings, and whenever you carefully observed the maku and carpets of the Palace, sometimes I was afraid of you.

Plus, you made those court ladies who were bullying me back down without any particular problems.

But... after we became roommates, I thought that I was being prejudiced.

.....

I believed that you
were just a friend who was a bit peculiar.

But I really don't know anymore.

Tell me, Moon-Hwa.

What... is your true identity?

.....

... I hoped it wasn't true.

So you really were awake
back then, after all.

... I hoped it wasn't true.

So you really were awake back
then, after all.

A woman with dark hair tied in a ponytail with a red ribbon, wearing a red kimono, is shown in profile, looking down. The background is a warm, orange-yellow color.

If you were really asleep and I had woken you up,

Then I couldn't have explained why
my clothes were drenched
by the rain.

A close-up of two hands, one light-skinned and one dark-skinned, holding a red object, possibly a flower or a piece of fabric, against a dark background.

That's why I purposely asked you
to treat my wrist in the following morning.

To see how you would react...

But you didn't show any reaction when I told you that I injured it when I fell down.

I hoped that you would just let it go
as it was.

Without knowing anything...

Who else knows of this?

Episode 62 Bud (3)

Katsumoto

Yoru-Hime, your assassination will end
after this first attempt.

You must leave no trace behind, eliminate the target, and get out.

If you can't do that,
you will live the rest of your life on the run.

Just like I am
right now.

The most important thing in an assassination

is to swiftly and quietly eliminate the target and get out.

Nothing is more important than this.

After all the training,
you won't be easily defeated
on a one-on-one at your current skills.

However, if you are discovered, there is a chance that you'll be facing many opponents rather than 1 one.
You must absolutely avoid that.

What should I do if,
even before the assassination,
I'm discovered by a third person who has nothing to do with the target?

Hold still, please.

You already failed
at that point.

Hold still, please.

Get away.

Of course, you should also get rid of the person who saw your face to prevent anyone from recognizing you.

The Japanese Army that burnt down your village and killed the children must also have had a purpose.

To be more precise, they must have killed those children in order to fulfill the Emperor's purposes.

In the end, it means that you'll be doing the exact same thing, as they did.

That is the weight of the revenge you seek.

No matter how heavy
the Emperor's sin is, it will not make your revenge
any lighter.

I understand what you've said me.

It's not a problem.
I should worry about if I've not discovered
anyway.

Then, I won't have to kill anyone other than the target.

You. That is the perfect ending.

With this single assassination as the end,
you must return to an ordinary life.

That was the condition I set before training you.

So, keep this in mind.

Should you be discovered by someone...

You must get rid of him.

Tell me.

Can L.

Really trust you on that?

If I really wanted to tell someone, I wouldn't have told you this so bluntly
in the first place.

I really didn't tell anyone.

Because I believed
you were my friend.

Friend...

Cho-Hua, if you really believe me to be a friend,

Then help me out.

Are you threatening me...?

If I don't help you, do you intend to kill me?

Had I really intended to kill you, I wouldn't even be wasting time with this chit-chat.

I'm asking you a favor.

As a friend.

... I CAN'T DO THAT. I'M REALLY JUST A PLAIN
COURT LADY.

A scene from a comic book showing two women in traditional Chinese clothing. The woman on the left is seen from the back, wearing a black and white robe with a red sash and a large red bow in her hair. The woman on the right is facing her, also in similar attire, and is holding a small object in her hands. They are in a room with a wooden door in the background.

IF THEY FIND ME HELPING YOU OUT, THEN I'LL BE DECAPITATED BEFORE I CAN EVEN BEGIN TO DECIPHER HIS MAJESTY'S, OR EVEN THE PRINCE'S SECRET WIVES!

"Think about it carefully."

A close-up profile of a woman's face, looking slightly to the right. She has dark hair and is wearing a red garment. The background is a plain, light-colored wall.

Do you really think that a mere assassin could infiltrate the Court
so easily without any assistance?

What...?!

The one who brought me here was Prince Hui-Yeon.

.....!!!!

If you help me...

I'll help you get what you want in return.

Episode 64 Bud(4)

No need to know that much.

The important thing is that this is a great opportunity for you to share such a secret with Prince Hui-Yuen.

Even though he hasn't been named the Crown Prince yet, he will be the only Imperial Prince left.

He is bound to inherit the throne.

The rest is just a question of time.

Depending on the scale of your effort, you could go beyond being just a second wife.

~~~~~

Yoon-Pyeong is right. This might be an opportunity.

Even though I came to know that the Prince is involved with Yoon-Pyeong, I cannot prove it anyway.

*If a more open lady were to talk about it without a definite proof,
it'd become something I wouldn't be able to handle.*

*On the surface,
His Highness will act
as if he weren't involved
with Yuen-Hua,*

And I could be beheaded for dishonoring the Great Joushin's only Imperial Prince.

*Of course Yuen-Hua
also knows this perfectly well, that's why she told me such a big secret so frankly.*

*It really would be a benefit for me to keep this secret and help out
his Highness.*

*I wouldn't have to wait
for years... no, I wouldn't have re-digged on a slim chance of becoming the second wife.*

I would have the position as the second wife assured, and I could win some riches...!

Empress...!

How can I help you out?

As I told you
before, I do not wish to leave any doubt behind.

That way, I will be sure that I can proceed to the next step of the investigation.

~~~~~

I understand.

The next rooms
are this way.

The Chief Jung-Ho
will be examining your wrist for the sake of his investigation

Roll up your sleeves.

.....?

I told you to roll up your sleeves, what are you hesitating for?

YOU THERE!

ROLL UP THEIR SLEEVES AND CHECK THEIR WRISTS!

YES, SIR!

RYAN!

AM, THAT MIGHT!

A few weeks after
we were assigned to the Main Palace...

Some of the court ladies
who were already in place
told us we were an eyesore and harmed us.

Oh my...

They hit us where the injuries wouldn't be visible, and told us that if we went to say anything to the Lefty Madam that they would not forgive us, so we couldn't tell you.

I heard that there were several others
who went through the same thing.

What...?!

WHO DARES DO SUCH A THING IN THE MAIN PALACE, WHERE HIS MAJESTY RESIDES!

TELL ME!
WHO ARE THOSE PERPETRATORS?

Actually, they...

... Pardon?

Episode 64. Turn.

Back-Haven.

Did you listen to the other court ladies'
testimonies about the bullying?

Yes. The Lofty Madam
had someone check for it, and indeed, many were subject to bullying.

Once word got out, everyone
started talking.

Then it was true that those court ladies were hurting the newly appointed girls...

Yes, that would seem so.

Hmm. As a glance,
there doesn't seem to be a problem, but...

I am still unsure if I can let this go just yet...

I will not allow...

.....

Ma-Ryang.

Oh, should I say
right-parliamentarian
Ma-Ryang, now?

.....

There is no need for such sarcasm.

It's a well-known fact within the Court that I am a rightparliamentarian in name only.

When we are not in a formal meeting, you may treat me as you did back when I was still a student.

More importantly,
I don't understand how you are evacuating
this place without notifying me first.

Since I was meeting with my father for the last time before he left for exile this morning,

I was only now notified of the events taking place here.

I'm the one who can't understand you.

We thought that you would have quit supervising the court ladies.

Why haven't you relinquished your duties as a student, now that you've become a right-officermentation?

I only wish to take responsibility for my own duties...

There isn't much time left until the birthday festival, so it is much better than finding another student and teaching him.

Furthermore, I don't think the other students will be thrilled to take on my duties.

I was also following my own leads and was investigating this place.

I apologize for not notifying you before proceeding.

However, do not forget that even though you may now be a right-parliamentarian, you do not have the right to stop an official investigation.

Is there anyone who knows it better than I do?

However, I am troubled with an investigation rushed without any proof.

When you have a definite proof, or an equally definite conviction...

...please come see me then.

I will retreat for today.

I thought that you'd manage splendidly if it were you...

...but I'm surprised.

How can you shed tears at a moment's notice...?

Well... You acted just like a hesitant, fragile girl when you're such a cold-blooded woman, so how would someone like me be a surprise to you?

And in such a situation, any woman would be capable of shedding a teardrop or two.

Hm, I don't know.

Anyway! Now
it's your turn.

I'm helping you out despite the merman dragons, even though I'm just a common court lady.

So as promised,
you have to let His Highness know about me.

... Yes.

On the surface, we will have to visit under the pretense of checking up on the court ladies' preparations for the birthday festival.

Yes.

I have mentioned it once to Dan-Hyang before I was imprisoned, so she should know about it.

However, unlike our predictions, the right-parliamentarian Mu-Ryang insists on supervising the court ladies even after his promotion.

Since he's taken the position of a right-parliamentarian regardless of the others'
criticism, he won't back down easily.

Originally we were supposed to meet right after the Doo-Jung-Yul and give it to her, but...

Because I was framed, the plan is only now moving along.

Well, that is true, but I hadn't expected things to go as I had planned in the beginning.

Against the Emperor, we'll always be the weaker opponents.

We could only struggle to keep the status quo.

But that all ends
TODAY.

IT IS OUR TURN NOW.

Episode 65 - Won-Yong

THIS IS A WORK OF FICTION. ANY CONNECTION TO HISTORICAL EVENTS OR FIGURES IS COINCIDENTAL.

Episode 65.

Right-Parliamentarian Mu-Ryang.

Do not worry anymore.

The other court ladies
do not know that you girls told me about it.

All the personnel from the Police Headquarters
as well as the Chief of Police have gone back
by now.

and I have already asked them to keep silent about you, so you will have no future troubles.

Thank you,
Lefcy
Madam.

Plus, the
right-parliamentarian Mu-Ryang has been notified of today's happenings.

He said that he wanted to have a word with you about it. He will be coming here
soon, so rest until then.

...Mu-Ryang?

Mu-Ryang...
"right-parliamentarian"??

What did the mean,
right-parliamentarian
Ma-Byeong...?

Did she mistakenly say that instead of court student?

No. He's not a court student anymore. He really became a right-parliamentarian.

The left-parliamentarians are still arguing about it, but it seems it has already been decided.

But, even though he became a parliamentarian, he will be supervising us court ladies until the end of the birthday festival.

He suddenly became a parliamentarian, just like that...?

And I thought he was a court student aiming to be a left-parliamentarian, but to become a right-parliamentarian...

Was sir Mu-Ryong from a military background, and not a scholar...?

... How did he become a parliamentarian at such a young age?

Usually those nominated to be parliamentarians are older and have many accomplishments...

... You really didn't know?

It turned out that the culprit
behind the right-parliamentarian's assassination was the rightparliamentarian Mun-jong.

And since, in the recent trial,
he was sentenced to be exiled
and to be placed under house arrest, he left for his exile place this morning.

What's a name?

What does that have anything to do with Sir Mu-Byeong, who's a student?

It has everything to do with him—

Sir Mu-Byeong is the son of right-performancesman Mun-Jong.

Didn't you know?

A close-up of a man's face, looking slightly to the right. He has dark hair and a serious expression. A red collar is visible at the bottom left.

Sir Ma-Ryang
no...

The son of rightparliamentarian
Mum-jung?

A woman with dark hair and a red bow is in the foreground, looking towards the right. In the background, a man's face is visible, looking down with a somber expression.

I don't really know the details, but as soon as rightparliamentarian Mum-jung was given his sentence, all the right-parliamentarians got together and decided it in a flash.

Since there is no precedent of there being such a young parliamentarian, the left-parliamentarians are complaining a lot...

but since His Majesty has given his permission, there's no helping it.

Thinking back, sir Ma-Ryang always had very precise and detailed information.

I thought that all court
students had access to such information, but I was wrong.

It was because his father was a right-parliamentary, and the right-hand man of the Emperor Maan-jung.

That he was able to get his hands on information that the other students couldn't know about.

May I enter
the room?

It's a position that goes beyond my abilities, so it really is just a burden.

But thank you.

How far does
sir Ma-Ryang
know?

Does he know that it was Prince Hui-Yeon
who forced right-
parliamentarian
Min-Jung to exile...?

For there to be such a thing among the court
ladies without me
knowing about it...

You must have suffered turbidity.

... Please do tell if you are feeling unwell at any time.

And I know that.

... Yes.

Ah, Um... Rightparliamentarian
Ma-Ryong.

The Lofly Madam
told us that you wished to have a word with us?

Ah, that's right...

His Highness the Prince will visit this place tomorrow.

He says he will check
up on the court ladies'
preparations for the birthday festival.

...So what Mom-Hana said
is true!

The Prince will come here in person...!

... Because His Highness will be meeting with the court
ladies tomorrow,

I was concerned about you pushing yourselves after today's mishaps.

Oh, no!
Not at all!

It's not a problem!

Fufu... I see.
That's good to hear.

Since the birthday
festival is so close, the court ladies appointed to serve His Majesty will be announced soon.

I will make sure that you two are not subject to any disadvantages
because of today's happening, so do not worry about it.

And...

On a different
note...

There is something
I want to ask you.

Yoon-Hwan

May I speak with you privately?

There is something I want to ask you.

...Something to ask me?

I have this feeling whenever sir Mu-Ryang is talking to Yeon-Hwa...

Is that really
it...?

I can't be too sure
since he doesn't let his thoughts show just like Yeon-Hwa, but...

If what I think is right, then it's a really dangerous situation.

For a parliamentarian
to have feelings towards His Majesty's
court lady...

I think I got myself into a really messy situation...

Unreachable

... I think we may speak undisturbed
now.

What is it that you wish to talk me, Sir Mu-Ryoung?

*****

Truthfully, the court
ladies who will attend
His Majesty during his birthday festival have already been appointed.

The Lefty Madams and I have gone through the list of those who excelled both in the education courses and the test results.

And Yoon-Hua.

You are appointed as well.

.....?

I'm thankful that you are letting me know before anyone else...

But what does it have to do with what you want to ask me...?

To be honest,
I...

I didn't want to appoint you.

If the Lefty Madams hadn't been with me during the selection, I would not have appointed you.

.....

Why are you
telling me this...?

Yoon-Hwa. Do you remember? In the last Dae-Jong-Yul, you thanked me for giving you the opportunity to meet with His Majesty.

Then I asked you back if you really thought so.

... Yes. You did.

Do you still think so?

Do you truly wish to be at His Majesty's side?

I don't understand the reason behind
your question.

Who among the court
ladies wouldn't wish to be?

IT WAS BETTER TO GO WITH THE OTHER COURT
LADIES?

I WANT TO KNOW YOUR TRUE THOUGHTS
ABOUT IT!

BACK THEN WHEN I ASKED YOU BACK, AND NOW AFTER I TOLD YOU YOU HAD BEEN APPOINTED,

YOU DIDN'T LOOK HAPPY AT ALL ABOUT IT...

GRAB!

AND YET YOU STILL WISH TO GO TO HIS MAJESTY'S SIDE??

IF THAT ISN'T SO,
THEN TELL ME NOW.

IF YOU DO, THEN I...

I WILL!!

Enough...!

Please stop it. Saying any more will bring nothing but trouble to you as well.

Since you've become a right-parliamentarian, you should be more careful.

Doing this... isn't like you, sir Mu-Ryang.

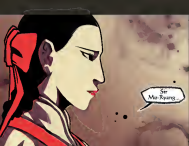

What exactly is...

Being like me, Ika...?

THIS IS A WORK OF FICTION. ANY CONNECTION TO

Episode 67.
Diverging

Your Highness.

This is the list of the court
ladies who will be serving the Emperor during the birthday festival.

Hm...

Yoon-Hui.

As expected,
Dae-Hyang made
it into the list, too.

The Lefty Madame
says that she has gotten a very good mark.

... Well, given her beauty, it would be strange if she wasn't picked.

She is a bright woman, regardless of her looks.

She managed to perfectly carry out a dangerous plan with so many variables.

Furthermore, it seems that she has chosen the best alternative by being selected as the Emperor's court lady,
given that she could not contact us at all.

It may be thanks to her that we can still aim towards our original goal,
even when our plans were derailed badly.

...But what concerns me most is the right-parliamentarian Mu-Ryang.

No matter how hard I think about it, I just can't understand it.

Why does he still insist to supervise the court ladies, now that he is a parliamentarian?

He must know that Your Highness has brought down the right-parliamentarian Mun-jung.

so wouldn't his priority be to try consolidating his position as a right-parliamentarian?

.....

...At this time, I cannot be sure of it either.

I cannot tell if this is Mu-Ryeong's own choice or an order from Mum-Jung.

Since we do not know anything about him, we cannot even make any guesses or theories about his actions.

I am thinking of observing him, for now.

Your Highness,
this is right-
parliamentarian,
Mai-Ryong.

Speak of the devil...

Master

You may enter.

The court ladies are ready and awaiting downstairs.

Do you wish to see them now?

No, I don't think there is a need for me to see all of the court ladies here in the Main Palace, so just call forth those listed in here.

One at a time.

Send them up in order.

is that a problem?

No, Your Highness.
I will do as you said.

...So, since His Highness
will be looking over your preparations for His Majesty's birthday
festival,

you must make sure to watch every little step you take.

Yes, Lofty
Madam.

Well then, those whose names are called will go upstairs to the VIP room.

The first one up
is...

Yuen-Hwa

You may go.

Yoon-Hwa.

*****

Yes, Lofty Madam.

THIS IS A WORK OF FICTION. ANY CONNECTION TO HISTORICAL EVENTS OR FIGURES IS COINCIDENTAL.

Episode 68. Plot

His Highness
is at the Main Palace!

Yes. They say it is to look over the court ladies' preparations before they are to serve His Majesty at the birthday festival.

His Highness selected
the court ladies as soon as he returned to the Imperial Court, too...

and now that the trial is over, his first stop is with the court ladies, again?

To be honest, I cannot believe His Highness' actions
as they appear on the surface, especially after the case with the right-parliamentarian
Mun-Jung.

I can't shake the thought that he is acting with some kind of purpose.

It is true that His Highness has restricted the investigation's scope towards a single path...

But isn't it a good thing since it has ultimately led to the right-performanceman Nam-jong guilt?

It could also be that His Highness, in order to free that man called Kingyeol, guided the investigation so that the truth would be revealed in the shortest amount of time.

If we only look at the results, then anything and everything would be possible.

Moreover, the greatest problem is that the whereabouts of the assassin who assaulted is still unknown.

He was an extremely skilled individual.

Different from those mercenaries for pay.

The fact that such an individual is within the Court right before the birthday festival is in itself a great danger.

If the right-parliamentarian Mum-jung truly has nothing to do with that assassin, then it is highly probable that he was indeed associated with His Highness, or the left-
parliamentarians.

Since they are the ones who benefitted the most from this case's outcome,

As soon as the
right-parliamentarian
Mum-jung was forced out of the Court, the left-parliamentarians strengthened their weakening position.

And the one they support is none other than His Highness, Prince Hui-Yeon.

...Chief. You should be careful with such a statement.

Not only it is difficult to prove it unless we immediately catch the assassin,

but it is also very dangerous to hypothesize that His Highness is involved in this matter
along with the left-parliamentarians.

~~~~~

Nonetheless...

We must look into what we aren't sure of.

It has been a while since all three of us
met like this.

There were a handful of couples, but it is thanks to you that we could come this far, Dam-I-lyang.

I was lucky. It is good that the circumstances happened to be in our favor.

They say luck is also a talent.

If it weren't for you, I wouldn't be here, in this very moment.

Thank you.

I only did what I had to.

Without you, our plan would go awry.

Fufu... That's what I thought you'd say.

Well, that's all good then. Now for the next job.

Here, take this.

What is this?

Some time ago, when Kangyal went to find you, he must have given you the map of the Moon Palace and the positions of the guards and he must have also told you that I would be giving you something else later on.

Since it wasn't ready at that time, I couldn't give it to you through Kangyal and afterwards, he couldn't deliver it because he was framed.

This is...

..Yes.

It's "poison".

THIS WILL BE OUR LAST PLAN.

Dong-Hyang: Listen to me very carefully.

THIS WILL BE OUR LAST PLAN.

THIS IS A WORK OF FICTION. ANY CONNECTION TO HISTORICAL EVENTS OR FIGURES IS COINCIDENTAL.

Episode 69.
Before the Storm (1)

Let me hear
your thoughts.

Are there any questions or impos-sibilities with it?

Was it not Your Highness who once said that there is no such thing as a perfect plan?

It does have some uncertainties to it, but I don't think you need my confirmation.

A close-up of a man with dark hair and a high-collared uniform, looking shocked with wide eyes and an open mouth. The background is a blurred outdoor scene with some foliage.

There's someone who found out of your relationship with His Highness?!

A close-up of a woman with dark hair, wearing a red and black uniform, looking slightly to the side with a serious expression.

She is the court lady sharing the room with me.

A woman in a red and black uniform stands in a room with a large, dark, draped object in the foreground. The background shows a window with a view of a city.

This night when I assaulted Chief Jung-Ho, she noticed that I came back at dawn drenched from the rain.

A close-up of a woman with dark hair, wearing a red and black uniform, looking slightly to the side with a serious expression.

Moreover, Chief Jung-Ho's investigation was right at our door, so I could only ask for her help.

But this is dangerous.

Even if she doesn't know of our true
motives,

a secret cannot be safe the more people know
about it.

..That is true,

but in such a situation, I would have done the same
too

Pardon?

You cannot eliminate the roommates when the Chief Jang-Ho was so close at hand.

It would be more suspicious.

Then the only alternative would be to win her over
in that short amount of time...

If that court lady is so taken with the position as a second wife, then she was given a perfect opportunity which she couldn't refuse.

...So if I succeed with this job, please take her as your second wife

It shouldn't matter how many wives you take in anyway

Since it was I who ordered the attack on the Chief Jung-Ho,

and since it was my own mistake that I couldn't forsee Chief Jung-Ho
coming to investigate the court ladies' quarters...

I give you my word

However, if there is the slightest chance that our
secret is leaked,

then she will have to be taken care of

...I am sure she herself
must know that very well.

Yes, you say
her name is Cho-Hyeon...

Kongyu. Is her name also on the list?

Yes, she has been nominated.

That makes things easier.

She will come up here in her turn even without my ordering.

right-
parliamentarian
Ma-Ryang to bring her here.

Ah, since we're on that topic
Dan-Hyang.

Do you know that the right-parliamentarian Ma-Ryang,
the supervisor of the court
ladies, is the son of the rightparliamentarian Mun-jung?

...I only found out yesterday.

I had no idea
before then.

The right-parliamentarian
Ma-Bong must know that
the right-parliamentarian
Ma-Jung was framed so that His Highness could save me.

He hasn't shown any suspicious movements
so far but it's better to be careful around him.

The fact that he is still supervising the court ladies might be proof that he is up to something fishy.

COMING SOON

I'll keep that in mind.

I have emptied and prepared the Muir Palace's VIP rooms especially for the officials who will be coming from all over Joushan for the birthday festival

Also, since His Highness, Prince Hui-Yuen, is personally looking over the court ladies' preparations, there is no need for you to worry about, Your Majesty.

Hui-Yuen, with the court ladies?

Episode 70.
Before the Storm (2)

I heard from Yoon-Hwa.

She says that you
know of her identity,
and her relationship
with me.

... Yes. I found out about her identity by chance,
but I did not know that she would have a relation with Your Highness.

I see...

I hear that you've been working hard towards becoming a second wife.

Is there a particular reason for that?

Ah...! No, it isn't that I have a special reason for it.

I became a court lady on imperial orders and regardless of my wishes, but since I've become one, I didn't want to end my life as a nameless court lady.

Of course, becoming a Lady Madam would have been good too,

but I wanted to become the second wife.

Hm...

I like it.

To set a goal in the given circumstances, and strive towards it.

It's a virtue I highly commend when evaluating a person.

It is not an easy thing, since it requires great courage and faith in oneself.

I'm honored to hear that, Your Highness.

Papu... In truth, I was worried how a careful person
such as Yoon-Hwa had come to reveal such an important secret,

but now I am convinced.

You must know this without me telling you, but the secret you've come to know should not be revealed to anyone else.

Of course, you should not try to find out more about it either.

If you can keep these two conditions, I will promise the position as the second wife to you.

... By the looks of her, she really seemed passionate to climb up the social ladder.

It doesn't look like she will betray us, as long as I assure her the position
as the second wife.

However, if someone were to notice her involvement with us and decided to question her, it won't be long before she confesses to everything.

She is different from Din-Hyang.

... I am aware of that.

That is exactly why
I told Doo-Hyang
before.

If the secret were to leak out, she won't make it out alive.

Che-Hae
must know that as well.

so us four have
all agreed to it implicitly.

If such a situation
should arise...

...she will be eliminated without hesitation.

I rode my horse
throughout the night.

As I thought, His Majesty hasn't abandoned you completely, seeing that your place of exile is on firm land
so close to Joushin, and not on a deserted island.

Moreover, these soldiers seem to be your body guards in disguise.

You aren't here to make small talk with me...

What business
have you with me?

I have some questions for you.

Especially...

About Dan-Hyang, the
assassin.

I cannot understand you.

Why are you asking me about Dan-Hyang the assassin

when the trial is already over, and I've been demoted and exiled to this desolate place!

*****

High-ranking member Min-feng

When I assaulted you, do you remember that I had arrived at your office

while chasing after the assassin who had assaulted me?

Yes, I remember.

However, as I said
before, I do not know anything about it.

It seems that you still haven't figured out the identity of that assassin.

It is true that it has been difficult, since there isn't any decisive evidence.

However, I do have some hypotheses of my own.

My hypotheses.

Before I tell you about them, please answer my question.

Hyun-jung

Have you ever seen the assassin, Dan-Hyang?

THIS IS A WORK OF FICTION. ANY CONNECTION TO

Episode 11. Wound.

You should have seen that smile—

I'm telling you, he told me that he would trust me, and smiled!

— You're really
that happy!

Of course
I am!

I approached His Highness under the condition that I'd keep your secret.

I thought that he would have that part of me.

Still

Plus, I've come one step closer to my dream as a court lady, how could I not be happy—?

Right?

I understand your feelings of approaching your dream.

Though, since I didn't come here as a court lady in the first place, I don't really know any more than that.

Yoon-Hwa, how did you become an assassin?

It's not a simple thing to be, especially as a woman

Now that His Highness also knows
about this,

you should be more careful.

Ah.

Let's get ready to go out.

It's time for morning roll
call.

Yeah.
Alright.

Have I ever seen her...?

Do you think that Dan-Hyang the assassin
is an urban legend?

A fictional character?

That's not it.

There have been too
many cases where he was a suspect to make him to be a fictional character.

I'm asking because
I want to be sure of it.

Didn't you use
the assassin
Dan-Hyang's name
for your case?

Did you simply borrow the name from the Emperor's assassination attempt?

Or have you seen that person directly?

Hm...
Have I seen...

or have I not seen...

I've heard that you got it while fighting on the battlefield...

What is that?

No. This was after the loss of the Battle of Me-Gou.

Right after winning the death match following it,
when Jushiro's victory
was assured,

I've gotten this wound away from the battlefield.

At the time, I had gone to meet with him.

Yeon-Hwa, how did you become an assassin?

Yeon-Hwa, how did you become an assassin?

It's not a simple thing to be, especially as a woman.

General
Tao-Jung...

Yes. According to my info broker, he is the one responsible for killing the children and setting the village on fire.

Furthermore, it seems that it wasn't just your village, but many others
where war orphans were staying.

If you're really set on assassinating
him...

This is your chance...

I have heard of General Tae-jung

Wasn't he the prime candidate to become a right-parliamentarian?

Yes.

At the time, since I was also aiming to become one,

I had gone to meet with him to establish a friendly relationship.

However, that night, I injured my eye...

...and General Tae-Jung died.

*Episode 72.
Those That Remain*

I hear that Juushin's victory is certain thanks to that last brave you've led.

If the war ends well,
His Majesty is sure to reward you greatly.

You overestimate
me. I only did what I had to.

Because of the prolonged war, I couldn't come and find you sooner.

You have been well, I hope?

Hm, well, I wonder...

Since you are asking, there has been one thing bugging me recently.

What?

I got information that an individual has been gathering intel on me.

My past deeds, missions, and even my current daily life.

Why would anyone gather information about you?

You've already retired from the front lines, so it can't be the Barbarians...

Who in the world...

Speaking of which...

Man-Jung, have you perhaps...

... heard of Dan-Hyang
the assassin?

Dan-Hyang!

At the time, General
Tao-Jung did not mind
that the assassin Dan-Hyang was digging up information about him
in order to take his life.

There have been multiple attempts to his life in the past,

and it seems he underestimated
Dan-Hyang as a warrior
only.

Then the one who assassinated General Tao-Jung and slashed your eye was...

That day, I was planning to stay the night at General Tsa-jung's residence and return to the front lines in the morning.

That night, I met with Dan-Hyung.

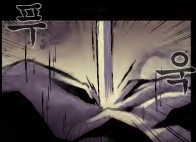

31% Scab

I may be retired from the front lines,
but I'm not to be underestimated.

I know you've been digging up
information on me.

Why are you
targeting me?

... I remember
now.

REMEMBER?

Ten years ago.

Don't tell me you don't remember raiding the war
orphans' small villages
and burning them down?

.....!!!!

HOW DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THAT?!

Was there a survivor from that time?!

...

At first, I did intend to eliminate him without a word.

But as soon as I saw him... As soon as I heard that voice, I couldn't help but ask.

An assassin
should not do
that.

At the very least, we must be endlessly cold
and calm.

An assassin who is swayed by emotions won't stay alive for long.

You don't have to worry about
that anymore.

I am no longer an
assassin.

No. Not yet. It isn't over until we get out of here safely.

We've taken too much time already.

I took care of some of the guards nearby, but there are still many more.

Soon, someone will come across their bodies.

...At dawn,

I was about to get ready to return to the battlefield before suddenly

However, I felt strongly uneasy...

Uneasy...

The surroundings were too quiet.

Despite the early hour in a manner such as this there should a henya have been someone awake.

There weren't any guards or servants?

No.

I found them easily enough as soon as I left my room.

Answer...

They were already dead.

...?!

When I discovered that there was something wrong,

I immediately gathered some servants...

...and headed for General Tao-Jung's
chamber.

GENERAL
TAE-JUNG IS IN DANGER!

CHECK HIS BEDCHAMBER
FIRST!!

ALL AVAILABLE GUARDS HEAD TOWARDS THE BEDCHAMBER!

BRING ME MY SWORD!!

FOLLOW
SHORTLY!!

MASTER!

Return to our hiding place while I take care of the guards.

You have mastered my every teaching, but you are still inexperienced.

I can't get us both out of here while looking after you.

But—! How could you possibly take care of all those guards?!

LISTEN TO ME!

If you're with me, it will only give the guards
more openings.

Don't worry. Once I've bought enough time, I will follow you.

Hurry.

.....

There's no time.

I promise.

DASTARDLY

If those guards were General Tso-fung's personal force, they must have been fairly skilled

To finish them off and infiltrate so quickly...

*So the name
of Dan-Hyang, the assassin isn't infamous for nothing.*

MUN-JUNG!!

**....?!

.....

ARE YOU THE RUMORED ASSASSIN
DAN-HYANG?!

I'd better take care of this man before I escape!

I saw General
Tan-Jung's corpse
laying behind the culprit

I was too late

I knew that I absolutely couldn't let the infiltrator
escape, so the guards and I attacked at once.

In sheer numbers,
we had the absolute
advantage.

I intended to catch the assassin
alive, and find out who masterminded this,

...and the reason they had arranged General Tan-Jung's assassination.

However, I was too full of myself...

The culprit...

...was not an opponent I could hope to catch alive.

The informant was getting tired from fighting against so many.

...but the guards didn't stand a chance against the bastard and fell like leaves...

As time passed, the remaining guards were taken by fear,

and became hesitant
in their attacks.

I couldn't let the situation go on any further, so...

I gave up on catching the infiltrator alive,

...and rushed in with the intent to kill

And in that instant,

...the thin thread of tension that ran between us snapped—

And our swords,
dashing for each other's throats,
crossed ways.

이러다

Episode 75. Assassination (3)

I traded my eye for that assassin's life.

What, you traded your eye for the life—

Do you mean that the assassin Dun-Hyang died at that time?

... Well, there is a reason why I said that I'm not sure whether I'd seen Dan-Hyang, the assassin or not.

Certainly the assassin who killed General Tsa-jong died on that day.

But the problem came after...

The corpse, which we had kept in order to make an example out of Dan-Hyang's body, disappeared.

...!

I had already returned to the war zone, so I only heard about it later...

I was told that all the guards who had been keeping an eye on the corpses were dead.

It was as if...

...Dam-Hyang had come back to life and had slain them all.

Not only that,
but after the corpse's disappearance...

...the rumors about Dan-Hyang the assassin only spread.

Cases where Dan-Hyang
was supposedly the culprit
continued to occur.

However, the people
did not care for such rumors
during the time of distress
and chaos following the war.

By now, had already forgotten by the time I became a right-parliamentarian.

And it was then...

It was then we acquired information that Don-Hyang was plotting the Emperor's assassination.

Afterwards, as you know,
there was no one among the Chiefs of Police and the Parliamentarians who did not know that name...

... The name of Don-Hyang, the assassin.

*****

We can deduce
some facts, then.

Of course, the dead cannot come back to life ...

Either the assassin who died that day was not the real Dan-Hyang—

Or the name of Dan-Hyang does not belong to only one individual, but to two or more.

Only the actual Dan-Hyang knows
the truth.

But the important thing is...

There still is an assassin who uses the name of Dan-Hyang.

An extremely skilled
assassin.

It seems that something broke inside
of me.

When I was killing
those soldiers to retrieve
your body.

I did not hesitate,
even though they were completely unrelated to my revenge.

Could you kill innocent people just for the sake of your revenge?

You took me out of my despair and led me to the light,

...and yet I felt no
tears in my eyes when I faced your corpse.

It'll be hard,
but be strong.

Relax... Don't be so tense...

And I hope that one day you'll be able to look around yourself
more peacefully...

You said that an assassination isn't over until I make it out safely.

You're right. This isn't over yet.

Nam-Hwa...
That's a beautiful name.

I am...

From now on...

I shall be Dan-Hyang, the assassin.
